

Cheryl Tambor

My name is Cheryl Tambor, and I was born and raised in Willowick, Ohio. I have a rather large family, with two sisters and two brothers. I graduated from Notre Dame Cathedral Latin High School in 1998 and went on to John Carroll University where I studied Pre Law / Political Science and obtained my BS degree. Rather than going to law school, I decided to go post-baccalaureate to Lake Erie College to study middle childhood education and received my BA as well as my MEd. After teaching for a few years in the classroom, I moved onto corporate leadership and development at Bank of America, I have been with BAC going on 20 years and have held various positions along the way. Currently I am a Consumer Product Strategic Analyst, where I develop voice and non voice treatment strategies to help mitigate loss with the banks consumer products. A great portion of my day is spent developing reporting, analyzing the data and implementing new routines / projects to subside loss rates. I have a 20 year old daughter, Autumn who is currently in college where she plays softball and is studying to become a Registered Nurse. I also have what I call my adopted daughter, Giulia, who lives in Italy. We hosted her through an exchange student program with Borderless Friends Forever and she instantly became part of our family. Mark and I have happily been together for a few years, and we have a rather funny story about how we met and wound up together – so if you ever see me at a function, don't hesitate to ask, for a little laugh! At home we have an Olde English Bulldogge, named Benson and we just lost our other Olde, Bentley. We also have a little princess kitty, named Finch, of course named after Jennie Finch, the famous softball player. Outside of work and volunteering, I have many hobbies, with traveling coming in as my number one thing to do! Some other things I enjoy are; Guardians Baseball, cooking, sourdough baking, gardening, boating, hiking and really anything out in the water!
